NEWS AND ANNOUNCEMENTS

James K. Cameron Faculty Fellowship 2017-2018

The Institute is pleased to announce a Cameron Faculty Fellowship for the academic year 2017-2018. The Fellowship is open to any colleague in a faculty post with research interests in the field of early modern religious history. It covers the cost of accommodation for a semester in St Andrews (in a University-owned apartment) together with the costs of transportation to and from St Andrews from the holder's normal place of work. The Fellowship carries no teaching duties, though the fellow is expected to engage in the normal seminar life of the Institute. The Fellowship may be taken during either semester of the academic year (Sept. - Dec. or Feb. - May).

Candidates should apply by submitting to the Director, Dr Bridget Heal (bmh6@st-andrews.ac.uk), a CV together with the names of two academic referees and a plan of work for the proposed tenure of the fellowship.
Closing date: 8 December 2017

2017: St Andrews Commemorates Five Hundred Years of Reformation

Throughout October there will be a series of public events in St Andrews to mark the 500th anniversary of the Lutheran Reformation. During October, members of the Schools of History and Divinity will deliver three lectures on Luther and Lutheranism. St Salvator's Chapel Choir, supported by the Kellie Consort, has recorded a wonderful CD of Lutheran music from the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries, which will be launched at a concert on 10 October. On Reformation Day itself, Tuesday 31 October, there will be an ecumenical service in Holy Trinity with participation from the town's churches and the University and a sermon delivered by the Rt Rev and Rt Hon Dr Rowan Williams. Full details of these and other related events are available at <https://2017.wp.st-andrews.ac.uk/>

Congratulations to...

Brian Hanson, for the successful completion of his PhD on "The worde of our soules health": Protestant piety in sixteenth-century England with particular reference to the writings of Thomas Becon'

Sean Heath, for the successful completion of his PhD on 'The Cult of St Louis in Early Modern France'

Other news

The Institute welcomes...

Erin Maglaque, who joins us from Oxford. Erin's book, An Intimate Empire: Renaissance Venice and its Mediterranean World will appear with Cornell University Press in 2018, and she will be teaching a variety of courses on early modern social and religious history.

Sandra Toffolo, who has been appointed as a new USTC Post-Doctoral Research Assistant. Sandra joins us from the Centre d'Études Supérieures de la Renaissance, Tours.

Institute Members' News

Jessica Dalton has been awarded a study fellowship from the Society for Renaissance Studies to fund a research trip to Rome to complete her PhD research.

Bridget Heal is spending 2017-18 in Berlin at the FU working on her project, The Religious Reconstruction of Germany, 1635-1700. Her book, A Magnificent Faith: Art and Identity in Lutheran Germany was published by OUP in August (<http://bit.ly/2jHzMUC>). Other recent publications include: Heal and Koerner (eds), Art and Religious Reform in Early Modern Europe, special issue of Art History 40 (2), April 2017; Heal and Kremers (eds), Radicalism and Dissent in the World of Protestant Reform (V&R, 2017).

Caleb Karges has been awarded the highly prestigious annual André Corvisier Prize for the best doctoral thesis on military history by the International Commission for Military History. Caleb successfully finished his PhD at St Andrews in 2016 on the subject of 'So Perverse an Ally: Great Britain's Alliance with Austria in the War of the Spanish Succession'.

Nina Lamal Has won a major grant from the Bibliographical Society to research Italian newspapers and been awarded a three month fellowship by the British School in Rome. Congratulations also to Nina for winning a three-year Postdoctoral grant from the Flemish Research Foundation, which will start in October.

Emily Michelson has published 'Conversionary preaching and the Jews of Early Modern Rome', Past & Present 235(1), May 2017. In June she hosted a workshop on Religious Minorities in Early Modern Rome in St Andrews. She is spending the 2017-2018 academic year in Rome on an AHRC Early Career Leadership Fellowship for her project Imaginary Jews and Religious Minorities in Early Modern Rome.

Guy Rowlands has co-edited with Dr Julia Prest a volume of essays written by 13 international scholars: The Third Reign of Louis XIV, c. 1682-1715 (Routledge, 2017). Guy and Julia wrote three of the essays, and another was penned by former St Andrews undergraduate Dr Benjamin Darnell. Guy has joined the editorial board of the Royal Historical Society's new Open Access book series New Historical Perspectives. The series caters for early career researchers and proposals for monographs, editions and essay volumes are warmly solicited by the board. In April Guy gave his professorial public inaugural lecture at St Andrews. He was the expert interviewee for BBC2's TV programme 'Inside Versailles' (broadcast 2 June 2017), commenting on the outbreak of the Dutch War (1672) in association with the broadcast on the BBC of the Canal+ drama series 'Versailles'.

Tom Scott has published The Swiss and their Neighbours, 1460-1560. Between Accommodation and Aggression (Oxford: OUP, 2017) and 'Summary and Perspectives', in: Christian Hesse, Regula Schmid, and Roland Gerber (eds), Eroberung und Inbesitznahme. Die Eroberung des Aargaus 1415 im europaischen Vergleich (Ostfildern: Jan Torbecke Verlag, 2017).

Arthur der Weduwen has published Dutch and Flemish Newspapers of the Seventeenth Century, 1618-1700 (2 vols., Leiden: Brill, 2017); 'A Brussels competitor to Abraham Verhoeven? The discovery of the serial Nouvelles Neutrelles (1621); De Gulden Passer 95, No. 1 (2017), pp. 37-60; "Everyone has hereby been warned." The Structure and Typography of Broadsheet Ordinances and the Communication of Governance in the Early Seventeenth-Century Dutch Republic', in Andrew Pettegree (ed.), Broadsheets: Single-Sheet Publishing in the First Age of Print (Leiden: Brill, 2017).
